ENERGY CLUB

The Energy Club provides a common platform for students to collaborate and transform their concerns about energy issues into meaningful action. Initiated by energy-conscious students with strong faculty support, the club focuses on energy conservation, awareness creation, and the promotion of sustainable practices. It brings together innovative ideas from across the campus and channels them into practical initiatives that foster energy responsibility. The club was formally inaugurated on December 27, 2014—marking the beginning of its mission to build an energy-conscious campus community.

As a student-driven initiative, the Energy Club is dedicated to promoting energy awareness, efficiency, and sustainable innovation. It encourages students to explore renewable energy technologies, smart systems, and conservation practices through workshops, guest lectures, and hands-on activities. By addressing real-world energy challenges and developing practical engineering solutions, the club nurtures future-ready engineers committed to clean energy and responsible usage. Whether interested in solar power, electric vehicles, or energy management, students are inspired to learn, collaborate, and lead meaningful change toward a greener, smarter future.

Vision

To build a vibrant community of energy-conscious learners who lead and inspire sustainable practices, innovative thinking, and responsible energy management within and beyond the campus.

Mission

- ❖ Enhance awareness of energy conservation, renewable energy, and sustainability among students and staff.
- ❖ Offer a collaborative platform for students to share ideas and implement energy-efficient initiatives on campus.
- ❖ Promote experiential learning, creativity, and research in modern energy technologies.

- ❖ Conduct workshops, campaigns, and events that encourage active participation in sustainable energy practices.
